'Pose editor' could potentially also check off 'More sex poses' and 'More dance moves'...'and' allow the community to continually create new ones...
...'Customizable clothes and hair' could potentially also check off 'More clothes'...'and' allow the community to continually create new ones.

Please allow some breast "sag" and some "tummy bulge" for us older female players for more realistic look. And in general more body mods.
Also, please add search, filter and sort options for Location selector to make it easier to find rooms in a long list!

if we could get the option to kiss during sex (or not), or to cuddle, just a visual interactivity during the poses, that would improve so much and possibly also summarize and make it clearer. The option as such is already there, as you can see in the example of the slow dance. A sex game that claims to be the best should have this option. In addition, condoms would be great, it is also about the general message that you should protect yourself during sex.
Last but not least: It would be great if you could get more regular sex poses, not everything always has to be based on performing wild acrobatics in bed, there are also couples who like to interact lovingly and intimately with each other, an aspect that is - IMHO - too often neglected here.
And please: finally give us a cleaning option, a towel or whatever, so that we can wipe the human glue off our faces and bodies without rejoining the room! :)
Thank you! :D

Piercings would be great. Poses with tools e.g. the use of dildos for pussy or ass, spanking poses with paddles

As a male it would be nice to be able to walk around naked without a raging erection. Having to ask permission from your partner for every pose. Why not just ask permission for a pose group,(eg: oral or anal) then once accepted allow a seamless pose switch within the group.

I'm missing the diving animation so much! It's present on Yacht and Beach, but not anywhere else.

More options for avatars is always a good thing. It's not nice to be a clone of your neighbor. especially for mens .

256,680,744	I would love for us to have more clothes than there are and if that is spending a lot of space on the game, I could put you a list of things that you could perfectly and without problem eliminate it, I am sure that nobody is going to miss it, we already have almost 6 months without any news in the game, I have many friends whose membership has ended and they no longer want to renew, they say that they are bored of the same thing and that the promises of rings, earrings, stockings and others. It never comes, every week they ask me for discord if there is something new and I always have to tell them the same thing, so please, for the good of all, put the things you have taught, rings, earrings, socks, except the Foxtail, I don't think we need that. I have also seen that there are some proposals for accessories, but I would like to know that there is a need for more than 20 hats or more than 20 pairs of glasses, perhaps we do not have enough ... what we need is not that, they are elegant garments, too sexy underwear, hair, more stylized clothes and not those sweatshirts that I can never wear ... thanks in advance	Thursday, Oct 28th 10:23AM

256,642,961	Really all of the above is needed, The most important option is for improvements on the ability for the community to make content and for it to go through a form of verification done through the community to be added to the game and example would be some games on the steam workshop have a community based voting for community based creations the obvious best choice is a feature similar to the steam workshop but that wouldn't really work for 3dx since everyone's content needs to be the same so the most important way is just the ability for the community to add content such things as scripting? poses? clothes? prints? Editor objects and textures? the community could probably pump these things out in the masses but there is no option of easy ability for that to be achieved. also please objects that can move in the editor or ability to add motion to the worlds we make i understand it will require scripting and for the desynch issue to be fixed But would it not be possible to change the world format all together to allow for more efficient worlds to be built cause currently the base systems is very basic we are playing with Legos when the option for powerful tools like blender for example could be integrated into it to make for a much better and easier creation of intricate worlds since the ability for people to donate to world editors is a thing then the tools provided to those creators should be way more powerful and have a lot more ability that they have. I would love to see a crawl movement option. I do not see it hard to implement, as the algorithm for walking collisions exists for both walk and run, so in my opinion it is more of the animation itself rather than coding it. It would add so much to BDSM lovers community
